

Donate your spare mobile phone and help provide computers for schools!!

The proliferation of computer technology into mainstream society over the past ten years has created a societal imperative to redirect prematurely retired computers properly and to help teach our children how to utilize technology. The Computers For Schools Program is committed to creating and maintaining extraordinary partnerships to assist schools in attaining the technology they need; expanding and improving education for our entire nation.

The Program is established to provide schools with computers needed to enhance instruction and to meet the needs of employers for qualified workers, to facilitate the donation of equipment that could be better utilized in schools, and to help businesses establish ongoing donation programs, to provide equipment to train students in vocational computer repair, and to dramatically improve the quality of computers in schools.

Donating your phone also helps preserve the environment by keeping them out of our landfills. Mobile phones contain toxic materials such as Cadmium, Lead, Mercury and Galium Arsenide.
